Lake Ship Sinks With Crew Of 35

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (UPI)—Two members of the crew of the sunken ship Carl D. Bradley were rescued today and the Coast Guard said two other survivors are believed to be in the area.

They were picked up by the Coast Guard cutter Sundew between High and Gull islands.

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (UPI)—Ships and planes searched gale-lashed northern Lake Michigan today for some trace of 35 crewmen of a cargo ship which broke in half and sank beneath mountainous whitecaps.

Capt. Roland Bryan of the limestone carrier Carl D. Bradley reported at 5:50 p. m. Tuesday, "We've broken in half. We're going down."

That was the last word from the ill-fated ship. An all-night search by other vessels and Coast Guard planes failed to locate wreckage or survivors.

Twenty-five of the crew members were from Rogers City home port of the Bradley. Six others were from other northern Michigan communities.

Friends and relatives clung to the faint hope that crewmen managed to abandon ship before the Bradley went down and were carried out of the distress area in rubber life rafts by whole gale winds of 60 miles an hour before the first rescue ship arrived.

"It's just like those nine disasters," one Rogers City man said. "All we can do is wait and pray."

The Bradley, a 14,800-ton ship returning without cargo from Buffalo, Ind., southeast of Chicago on Lake Michigan, to the Limestone harbor at Rogers City, vanished about 70 miles west of the Straits of Mackinac, which separates Michigan's two Peninsulas.

There were conflicting reports about the exact location of the ship when it sank. But the Coast Guard said it was convinced the Bradley went down 12 miles southwest of Gull Island, between the island and rock-studded Boulder Reef.

The German ship Satori was the first to reach the scene. Two Coast Guard planes hovered over the rescue ship and dropped flares on either side of the Satori to illuminate the area.

But reporter Dell Gaut of the Traverse City Record-Eagle said the flares were swamped by the giant whitecaps almost as fast as they were dropped.

Gaut, who was aboard one of the Coast Guard planes, said "we dropped 30 to 35 flares on either side of the German ship, but they didn't stay lit very long."

"Spray from the whitecaps was clearing the top of the Satori at times and the ship was having (Continued on Page Four)

NIX BIG BEN LIFT

LONDON (UPI)—The government has turned down a proposal to install a pay-as-you-go elevator that would take visitors to the top of Big Ben. The Works Ministry told Commons Tuesday that the elevator to the clock dominating the houses of Parliament would cost $56,000 and that it would take too long to pay off the investment.

QUARTERBACK CLUB HONORS STAR ATHLETES

TROPHIES AWARDED TIGER
CUB AND DEPAUW GRID
PERFORMERS

Five local athletes were honored in the DePauw Student Union here last night during the Greencastle Quarterback's final meeting of the 1958 season.

Featuring an address by Phil Eskew, Sullivan school superintendent, the banquet was staged as a testimonial affair for the high school and DePauw football teams and for DePauw's cross-country squad.

High School Coach Al Nowak presented Quarterback Club trophies to two of his Tiger Cubs—Gilbert Brown, outstanding back, and Dallas Sutherland, outstanding lineman.

Recipients of similar trophies from DePauw Coach Bob Hicks were this year's top Tigers—George Mestousis, outstanding back, and Dwight Tallman, outstanding lineman.

Bill Blake was named DePauw's best cross-country runner and awarded a special trophy by DePauw Athletic Director James Loveless, who doubled this fall as cross-country coach.

Players on both football teams were recognized by the head coaches, and tribute was paid to members of the two coaching staffs and cheering squads. All were guests of the club.

Presiding at the banquet, which was attended by approximately 150 club members and their wives, players' parents, and students, was Hal Hickman.

The Quarterback Club is a continuing project of the Greencastle Chamber of Commerce, and this year's membership list included 125 local men.

14 Are Dead In Weather's Wake

High winds trailed a vicious storm system across the nation's border into Canada today, leaving in its wake at least 14 persons killed by snow, cold and tornadoic winds.

There were three dead in both Utah and Oklahoma, two dead in Texas and New Mexico, and one dead in South Dakota, Wisconsin, Colorado and Missouri.

Another 16 persons were missing in the snow covered mountains of Arizona, Utah and Colorado.

Rescuers virtually gave up hope for six of the missing, three of them Boy Scouts lost in deep snow in Arizona's Santa Rita Mountains, the last of eight air-men who parachuted in the Magpie Flat area near Huntsville, Utah, and two men whose plane crashed near Fort Collins, Colorado.

A search party in Colorado battled to within half a mile of the wreckage of the crashed C-47 cargo plane, but had to quit Tuesday night when darkness and howling blizzard made it too dangerous to continue. An Air Force pilot who first spotted the wreckage said he saw no signs of life.

Blizzard conditions swept part of the Dakotas and Minnesota Tuesday, piling up five-foot drift along highways in the Grand Forks, N. D., region.

The storm then smashed into Canada, dumping up to 20 inches of snow on Manitoba's Red River Valley in the worst November snowstorm in the province's history. A tornado hit the Port Arthur, Ontario, region.

Cold air radiating out from the storm's core blanketed a vast area of the nation extending from Pennsylvania across eastern Tennessee and Alabama and into the Gulf of Mexico.

Fair and cold weather also prevailed westward into the plain states, but a warming trend eased the bitter cold in the northern and central Rockies and began seeping eastward into the plains early today.

The greatest cooling occurred in Tennessee and the lower Ohio Valley where readings plunged as much as 35 degrees as compared with early Tuesday. Terre Haute, Ind., had an overnight low of 36 degrees as compared with a balmy 70 the day before. (Continued on Page 3)

DEPAUW GIVEN $56,500 GRANT FOR INSTITUTE

SUM TO PROVIDE SUMMER SCHOOL FOR JUNIOR HIGH TEACHERS

DePauw University has been given $56,500 by the National Science Foundation to support a summer institute for junior high school science teachers.

According to DePauw President Russell J. Humbert, the six-week session between June 22 and July 31, 1959, will be directed by Dr. Donald J. Cook, professor of chemistry at DePauw.

Among the objectives will be to improve the subject-matter competence of participating teachers and to strengthen the teachers' capacities for motivating able students to consider careers in science.

Other aims will be to bring the junior high school instructors into contact with prominent scientists and to increase mutual understanding between teachers at the junior high school and college levels.

Involving a maximum of 60 teachers, who will be selected from among applicants who have had at least three years of classroom experience, the institute will offer both lectures and laboratory work.

Areas included in the institute's program of general science will be mathematics, physics, chemistry, geology, botany and zoology.

Serving on the faculty will be seven DePauw professors—Dr. O. H. Smith, physics; Dr. Clinton Gass, mathematics; James Madison, geology; Dr. Howard Youse, botany; and Dr. John Ricketts and Dr. Cook, chemistry.

Last summer the DePauw staff members conducted a study of science teaching in the seventh and eighth grades under a special grant of $7,500 from the International Nickel Company.

The grant made possible a month-long study of textbooks, curriculum outlines, and teachers' training books in elementary science, plus a series of conferences between DePauw scientists and Indiana public school teachers and administrators.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department said today the sharp increase in net farm income this year probably would boost the per capita income of farm people to more than 1,000, the highest in history. In 1957, the per capita income of farmers was $967.

FACES TOUGHEST FIGHT

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Second baseman "Red" Schoendienst, an "important guy" with the Milwaukee Braves, faced the toughest battle of his baseball career today—overcoming tuberculosis, a disease that probably will keep him from the diamond next season.

Schoendienst, a 35-year-old baseball veteran, was plagued with colds and soreness in his chest throughout the 1958 season and it was confirmed Tuesday night he is suffering from tuberculosis, a malady which strikes without discrimination.

He notified the Putnamville Post and Howard Brackney and five other troopers joined Weir and Marshal Kilgore and converged on the automobile.

Brackney said he flashed his light in the car and that Neasat up saying "Don't kill me, you've got me."

Officers found a billfold and driver's license issued to Barry Steele Chapman, 24, who Neasat admitted he beat to death with a shotgun. Brackney said Neasat would not give any motive for the crime. A rifle and shotgun were found in the car. The driver's license gave the slain man's address as 4065 Evelyn Byrd Road, Richmond, Va.

Authorities said Neasat served time in the Joliet, Illinois prison and also in Idaho on armed robbery charge.

Pupils Lacking At Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—This morning, as on every weekday, the teachers park their cars and walk into the fine building that was Central High School.

They hold a brief staff meeting and then go to their separate classrooms. The desks are polished, the rooms spotless. The chemistry and physics labs and the biology room are ready for experiments. On the row after row of lockers are the familiar combination locks put there early this fall in anticipation of school opening.

There is everything except pupils. The teachers sit at their desks in the empty rooms. They try to make the day useful by devising improvements in their courses. Then they write letters, practice typing, read, look out the window.

For the 3,700 students of Central and Little Rock's three other high schools have scattered from coast to coast, enrolled in makeshift private schools, taken correspondence courses — or just given up their education temporarily.

A few blocks away is an old building which bears the only resemblance to a high school in Little Rock today. It is a former orphanage, later used by the University of Arkansas Graduate Division.

It is the site of the Little Rock private high school, run on donations and staffed by 34 teachers who came out of retirement or are just beginning teaching. There are 217 seniors and 288 juniors here plus 312 sophomores in a new Sunday school building of the Highland Methodist Church nearby.

Thursday the students hold an election for president of the student body and other offices. The campaign posters are stuck on the walls with endorsements like "peppy," "reliable," "real guy." But nowhere is there any mention that these children's education has been crippled because their state and nation haven't been able to find a reasonable solution to putting Negro and white children through school. W. C. Breshears, a former elementary school principal and a superintendent of schools in Texas, is the superintendent of the private schools. He is justifiably proud of having made available education in Little Rock, and he points out what a tremendous job it has been.

Vote Supports Closed Schools

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—The Norfolk City Council had the voters' three-to-two blessing today to ride with the state's anti-integration policy, which has closed six of Norfolk's public schools.

In the first direct ballot on Virginia's "massive resistance" program, three out of five voters said they would rather have the schools remain closed than have them opened and integrated.

The vote Tuesday was 12,658 "against" and 8,781 "for" this proposal.

"Shall the council of the city of Norfolk, pursuant to state law, petition the governor to return to the city control of schools, now closed, to be opened by the city on an integrated basis as required by the federal court?"

City Council called the referendum strictly to test the people's feelings on the school closures, and the results are binding in no way upon council or the state. Five of the seven councilmen, however, indicated before hand they would follow the verdict of the voters.

State law would permit Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, at his discretion, to return the schools to local control for reopening if jointly requested to do so by council and the city school board. No such request now is expected.

Segregationists hailed the outcome as a mandate for "massive resistance." But other spokesmen said the vote was swayed by a footnote on the ballot which reminded voters that should the schools be opened on an integrated basis state funds would be cut off from all Norfolk schools of the same class and a "substantial" tuition for each child would be charged.

ATTEND 3-DAY EVENT

A delegation of 25 persons from Greencastle and vicinity has returned home after attending a special three-day religious training program for Jehovah's witnesses in Mattoon, Illinois this past weekend.

Ronald Hurley, presiding minister of the Greencastle congregation reported that 1,103 assembled Sunday at the Mattoon Armory to hear district supervisor Raymond L. Anderson of New York speak on the subject, "The Watchtower Society in God's Purpose." "Much attention has recently been focused on the Watchtower Society," said Anderson, "as a result of its recent world convention in New York City and its progressive missionary program." "As a result many ask 'What is the origin and nature of this Society and what scriptural purpose does it serve?' Anderson then produced Bible proof that Jehovah has always used a channel such as a prophet or organization to instruct and lead God-fearing people in times of crisis.

LEARN ABOUT OTHER HALF
WASHINGTON UPI — What do highly-skilled airline pilots do when their company's shut down by a long strike?

They find out how the other half lives.

About 850 captains and co-pilots have been furloughed since a mechanics' strike closed down Capital Airlines 35 days ago.

A UPI survey showed today that many pilots swallowed their professional pride when their pocketbooks were grounded.

Three pilots went from the complicated cockpits of turbo-prop Viscounts to driving taxicabs in suburban Montgomery County.

One veteran captain is digging clams along Chesapeake Bay—and happily reported he is earning $20 a day.

"I'd rather be flying," he said, "but I gotta make a living."

Other temporary jobs revealed in the survey:

One captain is refurbishing antiques—a hobby he turned into when their company's shut down.

Two are working a plant nursery owned by an Allegheny Airlines captain.

Another is painting houses.

Several are selling real estate. Five are giving private flying lessons. One is instructing in seaplane flying. Two are working in hardware stores as clerks. At least two are selling insurance and one is a part-time school teacher.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Bonnie B. Runyan who passed away Nov. 19, 1954.

We have only your memory dear Mom

To remember our whole lives through.

But the sweetness will linger forever

As we treasure the image of you.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this means of thanking Doctors Schauwecker, Wiseman and Rhea, also the nurses and nurse aids for the wonderful care I received while a patient in the hospital. My family and friends for the nice cards and flowers and many acts of kindness. Thanks so much.

Nona Grantham Hostess To New Maysville Community Club

The New Maysville Community Club met November 14th with Mrs. Nona Grantham.

The meeting was opened by those present singing "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

Devotions were given by Mrs. Beryl Miller. She read from the 5th Chapter of Matthew, 14th through 16th verses. She also read the poem "We Thank Thee Lord."

Roll call was answered by a good display of antiques with their histories. An old cook book and hymnal brought by Nellie Malayer and Beryl Miller invited much comment.

Zola Johnson thanked the club for the gift she received during her recent illness.

Nona Grantham said she had received no word yet about the goods made by the blind.

The president read a letter from Fay Cox about the Mental Health gifts. These are to be taken to the Garrett store in Roachdale.

The club contributed to the T. 3. Fund and the Music and Art Fund.

The afternoon Christmas party will be held at the home of Eleanor McMullin. Each member to bring a home made Christmas card and plate of candy or cookies with the recipe.

Mrs. Ruby Major gave an account of Thanksgiving yesterday and today. She read the poem "Thanksgiving Day."

In 1621 the Puritans set aside a day for Thanksgiving. Their love of spiritual living, faith, love and hope have come down to us and may we pass them on to our children.

Then we were taken for a visit with Uncle Simeon's family during Thanksgiving 1779. They feasted and baked for three days. They had had no beef for three years, due to hard times, so instead, they cooked venison, pork, turkey, goose and pigeons. They had no raisins, so substituted dried cherries in their mince pies and puddings.

The day dawned bitter cold. All the family of cousins, aunts, uncles and grandparents gathered to attend church. Afterward they returned to a warm house and tables laden with food, for which they gave thanks. After the meal, they sat by the fire and sang hymns, cracked nuts and told tales of worthy deeds handed down as the Israelites did.

At present time and future we should take time to thank God for everything. In spite of our troubles, we are not having things as difficult as our forefathers. In closing she read the poem "We Thank Thee God."

The meeting was closed by repeating the collect.

The two pumpkin pies donated by Veda Malayer were sold to Louise Sullivan and Beryl Miller for $1.30. Jelly, frozen pork chops and cookies donated by Zola Johnson were sold to Ethel Miller and Nona Grantham for $1.75.

Mrs. Grantham served cake and coffee to seventeen members and a little guest, Robin Barker.

Club Met At Sillery Home
Mrs. Morris Sillery assisted by Mrs. Roy Sillery entertained the members of the FAH Club of the Carpentersville Community at her country home on Wednesday, Nov. 11, 1958.

The club meeting was called to order at the usual time 1:30 p. m. by the president, Mrs. Jean Robbins and the group, led by Betty Burdette and Grace Sillery, sang "Praise God From Whom all Blessings Flow."

Mrs. Harold Young, secretary, called the roll with responses from members expressing "What I am most thankful for." The secretary then read the report of the October meeting which was approved as read.

We were sorry to hear that Arthur Oakley, husband of our club member Cleavie Oakley was undergoing surgery that day at the Putnam County Hospital. We wish him a complete and speedy recovery.

Members were reminded that the exchange of "Secret Sister" Xmas gifts will be in order at the December Club meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Pickel on Dec. 10 with Mrs. Cleavie Oakley, the assistant hostess.

A committee was appointed to arrange for the February luncheon and club tour to be held for the anniversary meeting of the club. All details of places of interest to be visited and luncheon plans will be decided by the committee and announced at the January meeting.

The program committee presented some contests stressing Veteran's Day and Thanksgiving Day. The "Identification" contest of "Black Jack" Pershing the World War hero was by Mrs. Ruth Pickel and was presented by Gladys Hall, who also gave a Thanksgiving contest won by Miss Avis Risk. In this we compared our kitchen facilities for preparing and serving a Thanksgiving dinner with those our Pilgrim housewives had. Mrs. Mabel Hall presented the door prize to Mrs. Isabel Harbison for drawing the winning number.

Mrs. Margaret Kessinger found the "lucky penny" hostess gift under her teacup, a little surprise trick that was entertaining.

The hostesses served delicious refreshments of pie, and coffee with party cups of milk to fifteen members of the club and the following junior guests — Darla Burdette, Marian Kessinger, Barbara and Cindy Robbins, Lora Myers and Karen Sue Sillery.

You left us a beautiful memory, But a sorrow to great to be told To us who loved you and lost you Your memory will never grow old.

The love you gave us through the years Will never from us depart. The you have gone beyond our reach You are always in our heart. Sadly missed by wife and children

CARD OF THANKS
We want to thank everyone who has helped us in any way during the illness and death of our husband and father. We especially would like to thank the Longwood Bros., their employees, Mr. and Mrs. Hagerty, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Tennis and Dettloff, Rev. Conrad Glasco, for his comforting message, the singers, the pall bearers and the Thomas-Walton Funeral Home for their kind and courteous service. We also want to thank the Putnamville school, Walnut Valley Club, the Campfire Girls, and to all who sent the many flowers, contributions to the Heart Fund, and the many cards.

ILLITERATE THIEVES
SAN FRANCISCO UPI — A sign on the safe in the Lazzari Fuel Co. office said there was no money inside, just papers. Thieves broke it open anyway, found $1,000 and took it. On the sign they pencilled: "We can't read."

difficulty maneuvering in the stormy waters."

Gaut said, "if anything is found tonight, it will not be a lifeboat. None could stay afloat in this water."

By early morning, the Satori requested permission to leave the distress area. Other vessels, including the Coast Guard cutter Sundew, the buoy tender Hollyhook and the freighters Ribert C. Stanley and Elton Hoyt, took up the search.

They covered an area about 40 miles in diameter because at least two radio receiving stations said they thought the Bradley had given its position as 12 miles northwest of Gull Island instead of 12 miles southwest of the island.

Pray For Seamen Missing In Lake

ROGERS CITY, Mich. UPI — Rogers City, a shipping community of 4,000 on Lake Huron, hoped and prayed today for 25 of its seamen missing in galeswept Lake Michigan.

Lights burned in many homes as residents stayed up all night. "It's like one of those mine disasters," one of them said. "All we can do is wait it out and pray."

The local radio station, WHAK, broadcast on an emergency basis all night, giving relatives of the missing men bulletins on the disaster.

About 350 Rogers City men are sailors on the nine ships operated by the Bradley Transportation line.

The Carl D. Bradley, which sank Tuesday in Lake Michigan was a limestone carrier. The 21 Rogers City men aboard sailed her during the summer and fall and did maintenance work for the company in the winter.

The city was stunned by the accident.

"It's never happened to us before," one resident said.

Rogers City pinned its hopes on the Coast Guard reports that the location of the downed vessel had not been pinpointed.

"Maybe," the wives and mothers and sweethearts reasoned, "the drifts are floating someplace where the Coast Guard hasn't searched."

And through the night and morning, Rogers City tried to forget the slashing words of Capt. Roland Bryan, whose distress call was the last message received from the ship. "We've broken in half. We're going down."

Adult Leaders To Receive Training

Capt in Roland A. Nichols, of the Headquarters Staff of the Selfridge Michigan Tenth Air Force Base, will help direct the training of local adult leaders for the new Explorer program in the Wabash Valley Council. Captain Nichols is the Liaison Staff Explorer Officer for the Boy Scouts of America in the entire area of even.

R. C. Jones, the Council training officer, will direct the training of adults interested in the new Explorer program being launched by the Boy Scouts of America. The training course will be conducted at the Christ Lutheran Church at 24th and Poplar Street in Terre Haute, on Saturday, November 22nd. The training for all adult leaders, committeemen and commissioners from each district throughout the Wabash Valley Council will begin promptly at 1:30 p. m. and end at 8:30 p. m.

Art Freudenberg, the Council Chief Scout Executive, believes it is essential that adult leaders be thoroughly trained in this new concept of Scouting because it is based upon a new type of organization and it includes many activities not previously included in Scouting. He states that the Council plans first to build this New Explorer Program in the existing Explorer Units, then to concentrate efforts in the promotion of new units. It is also important for all leaders to experience this training now because all Explorer Units are to be completely changed over to the new program by January 1, 1959.

The three two-hour training sessions should enable all Explorer Leaders to actively enter into this new era of Scouting. These sessions all deal with making things happen in the new activity-centered program; the first session "This is Exploring—upon what it is based and what is expected to happen;" the second "Explorer Leadership—who does what and how they unite to make things happen;" the third "Explorer Program—who does what, when and how they make things happen."

Rockefeller Is Richest Politico

NEW YORK UPI—Them as has, gets, the old saying goes. But for Nelson Rockefeller it hardly seems worthwhile.

Rockefeller, today the brightest star in the Republican Party, has a new job as governor of New York with rent free and a yearly salary of $50,000 starting Jan. 1. That is almost as much as he now makes in a week.

And the governor's mansion may not impress a man who already has a 32-room apartment overlooking Central Park, a home on the 3,000-acre ancestral estate near Tarrytown, N. Y.; an 860-acre Venezuelan farm where he now is vacationing and a summer "cottage" at Bar Harbor, Me.

The words Rockefeller and money are almost inseparable.

Nelson is by far the richest man ever to hold high elective office in America.

His personal fortune is estimated at more than 100 million dollars, the bulk inherited from the estate of the fabulous John D.

Carefully invested at 4 per cent, that amount would return 4 million dollars a year or about $80,000 gifts by the Rockefeller clan figures out to about $20,000 a week so he only has a net of $60,000.

If he paid straight income tax on that, it would be sliced way down to only $6,800 weekly.

Accepting the governorship means he will have to resign the two board chairmanships which in the past few years have occupied most of his time.

One is head of Rockefeller Center, Inc. The great cluster of skyscrapers in midtown Manhattan is now valued at 125 million dollars, but is not for sale at any price.

The other is chairman of the International Basic Economy Corp., a sort of personal Point Four program. It runs supermarkets in Italy, sells instant coffee in Salvador, makes automation devices in New Jersey, builds housing projects in Puerto Rico and finances small auto loans in Venezuela.

Last year it showed a profit of $1,214,891. Rockefeller owns most of the $16 million worth of stock.

His main income still comes from Standard Oil stock but he has no role in running the company more than the voting power of a large stockholder. Many people still come to the Rockefellers mistakenly with criticisms and ideas about Standard Oil.

Nelson is also a member of 18 boards of directors. He owns 1,500 pieces of primitive art and a large collection of modern paintings.

It took an hour's conversation with his father, John D. Jr., on the evening of Dec. 10, 1946 to get 8.5 million dollars to purchase land on New York's East Side and donate it as the site for the permanent headquarters of the United Nations.

One of his few setbacks came last year when the Brooklyn Dodgers moved to Los Angeles despite his offer to donate 3 million dollars toward building a new stadium for the team.

His father is estimated to be worth more than 500 million dollars. Each of his four brothers and his one sister are believed to be just about as wealthy as Nelson.

Rockefeller says taxes now are such that no one again will ever amass such a fortune as his grandfather did, but he is not interested in money as such, anyway.
"I personally think money is a tool," he says. "If used constructively it can be of tremendous assistance in facilitating the accomplishments of a great many things. Money can also be a sharp destructive tool. It all depends on the way you use it."

Nelson is still a close man with a buck.

During the recent campaign he went into a Jewish delicatessen and spotted a huge salami hanging above the counter. He pointed to it and said, "How much?"

The proprietor said the regular price was $5 but for Rockefeller he would let it go at wholesale for $3. The sale was concluded and as Rockefeller left the shop, a woman said loudly to the owner: "To a Rockefeller you give a discount, to me never."

Opening lead — ♠ A

A careless player might fail to make this slam, losing one spade and one diamond. As it happened, however, Albert H. Morehead was the declarer, and careless play isn't in his dictionary.

West picked a horrible opening lead, the eight of spades. It isn't a good idea to lead up to declarer's bid suit unless you have sure tricks to develop. In this case, West's lead succeeded only in giving declarer a very elegant line of play.

Morehead covered the opening lead with dummy's nine, and East had to play the jack. Declarer won with the king of spades and drew three rounds of trumps, ending in the dummy.

The next step was to lead ten of spades from the dummy. Morehead felt pretty sure that West had led "the top of nothing," in which case East surely held the queen of spades.

East knew that his queen was trapped, so he played it on dummy's ten of spades. South won with the ace of spades, and West dropped the seven.

SIX IS HIGH
At this stage, after only two rounds of spades, Morehead's six of spades was high. The eight higher spades had all been played on the two earlier spade tricks.

The slam contract was now assured, but declarer could not resist the temptation to take a safe but spectacular finesse. He led a club to dummy's ace and led the deuce of spades from dummy. East followed with the three of spades, and Morehead finessed the four of spades.

It was a sure winner, since West wouldn't have dropped the seven of spades if he had held any other spades. Now declarer could lead the six of spades to discard the queen of diamonds from dummy, and all 13 tricks were assured.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner deals and bids one spade and the next player passes. You hold: S-10 9 2 H-K 10 7 5 D-A Q C-A 10 5 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two notrump. This shows 13 to 15 points, with balanced distribution and all unbid suits stopped. You cannot jump to three spades because your spade support is too weak.
